

The present invention provides methods of regulating gene expression using recombinant zinc finger proteins, for functional genomics and target validation applications.

SF 20251 v1

[illegible]